MHA Flash-Cards™ include the 6 Skill Building Blocks core to 21st century learning and human achievement.

MHA Labs isolated the building blocks using academic research and subject matter experts including practitioners, parents and young adults. In total, there are 35 skills that serve as both learning objectives and assessment items.

Operating as a public/private research and development program, MHA Labs is designing a system of developmental tools, assessments and trainings that promote the 6 Skill Building Blocks.

Stakeholders can use the 6 building blocks and 35 skills to communicate, develop and benchmark 21st century learning.
